The Croft Centre is a creative and innovative community service, providing person centred programmes of activities to individuals with an autism spectrum disorder.

The Croft Centre provides an extended range of social and recreational opportunities based upon individuals' specific needs, interests and wishes. Individuals are provided with support appropriate to their needs and are encouraged to maintain or develop new skills in a safe and structured environment.

A range of facilities on site include ICT suite, a pottery workshop, a print room, dance studio, sensory room, art gallery and café. Social inclusion and integration are promoted, with regular access to local sports, leisure and shopping facilities.
